Why Join the Golf Alliance for Utah?

golf alliance utah

Although the Utah Golf Industry possesses huge economic, recreational, and lifestyle assets, these attributes are virtually unrecognized within Utah government, the business community and the general Utah population.

The Golf Alliance for Utah is being formed from Utah's major allied golf organizations and golf facilities. The GAU has the support of national allied golf groups under the umbrella of Golf 20/20 and SRI International.

- The GAU has already contracted with SRI (Stanford Research Institute) to provide an Economic and an Environmental Study specific to the state of Utah. These studies will clarify the important position the golf industry holds within Utah's greater economy, while also providing valuable information regarding golf's stewardship of Utah's natural resources and preservation of green space.

- Membership in the GAU also provides other tremendous benefits for golf facilities, golf industry companies and other tourism and convention related organizations.

- The GAU will provide a forum within Utah's golf industry for development and promotion of valuable community goals.

- GAU members will have access to important ongoing industry statistics through the Utah on Par reporting program administered by the Utah Section PGA.

- GAU members will be able to participate in an annual "We are Golf" promotional activity with the Utah State Legislature, other government officials and community leaders.

- The GAU will maintain a legislative presence (lobby) at the Utah State Legislature. This presence will both promote golf industry initiatives and protect against negative legislation.

What do Utah golf and Utah skiing have in common?

Both recreational activities are significant members of Utah's huge outdoor recreation economy.

Which sports industry has the biggest economic footprint in Utah?

The golf Industry throughout the country is much larger than the ski industry. The golf industry is larger than skiing, bowling, marinas, fitness and recreational sports centers combined. The GAU-sponsored SRI International Economic and Environmental Impact study will validate Utah golf's importance.

Where do spectator sports fit into the Utah state economy?

Nationally, spectator sports including baseball, basketball, football, and hockey combined are not as big as golf. Join the GAU and see how Utah's professional and collegiate sports measure up against Utah's golf industry.
